PREFACE

This report presents statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State, its counties, and minor civil divisions (townships, etc.). In addition, separate figures are also presented for urban places, wards of cities of 5,000 or more, and other areas of the State. These data are based upon tabulations from the Seventeenth Decennial Census of the population of the United States, its Territories, and possessions conducted as of April 1, 1950. Provision for the Seventeenth Decennial Census was made in the act providing for the Fifteenth and subsequent decennial censuses which was approved on June 18, 1929.

The major portion of the information compiled from the Census of Population of 1950 will appear in Volume I, Number of Inhabitants, and in Volume II, Characteristics of the Population. This report is a preprint of Chapter 16 (Kansas) of Volume I, which is to present, in a single publication, statistics on the number of inhabitants for each State.

The materials presented here will also appear as Chapter A of Part 16 (Kansas) of Volume II. Volume II will comprise a series of separately published parts, one for each State and a summary for the United States. The use of separate parts makes the basic materials on characteristics of the population for a given State available to the public in a single publication. Within the part for a State, Chapter A will recapitulate the statistics on the number and distribution of the population within a State; Chapter B will present statistics on the general characteristics of the population of the various political subdivisions of the State, such as counties, incorporated places, and the like; and Chapter C will present data on the detailed characteristics of the population of the larger areas within the State, such as cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more and standard metropolitan areas.

The materials presented here were prepared under the supervision of Howard G. Brunsmann, Chief, Population and Housing Division, and Dr. Henry S. Shryock, Jr., Assistant Chief for Population Statistics, by Dr. Henry D. Sheldon, Chief, Demographic Statistics Section, and Charles P. Brinkman, Chief, Population Distribution Unit; the compilation of the statistics was under the direction of Robert B. Voight, Assistant Chief for Operations. The collection of the information on which these statistics are based was under the supervision of Lowell T. Galt, Chief, Field Division. The geographic work, including the delineation of special types of urban territory and the preparation of maps, was under the supervision of Clarence E. Batschelet, Chief, Geography Division.

Succeeding volumes will cover the following subjects:

Census Tracts, Nativity and Parentage, Nonwhite Population by Race, Persons of Spanish Surname, Institutional Population, Differential Fertility, Labor Force Characteristics, Occupation, Industry, Income, Internal Migration, Education, Characteristics of Families and Households.

U. S. CENSUS OF HOUSING: 1950

Volume

- I General Characteristics
- II Nonfarm Housing Characteristics
- III Farm Housing Characteristics
- IV Residential Financing
- V Block Statistics

Housing statistics for census tracts are to be included in the Population reports on census tracts.

KANSAS

Number of Inhabitants

The State.—The area now comprising Kansas and part of Colorado was organized as the Territory of Kansas in 1854, and in 1861 that portion of the Territory lying within the present boundaries of Kansas was admitted to the Union as the thirty-fourth State. Its population on April 1, 1950, according to the Seventeenth Census, was 1,905,299. The State has a land area of 82,108 square miles. In 1950 there was an average of 23.2 inhabitants per square mile as compared with an average of 21.9 in 1940. Among the States, Kansas ranked thirty-first in population and twelfth in land area.

In 1860, the first year in which the Territory was returned separately in a Federal census, that part lying within the present limits of the State had a population of 107,206 (table 1). In 1950, 90 years later, the population of the State was nearly 18 times as large. The rate of population growth was rapid between 1860 and 1890. Since 1890, however, the rate of growth for the State has been consistently lower than that of the Nation as a whole. Between 1940 and 1950, the population of the State increased by 104,271, or 5.8 percent, over the 1,801,028 inhabitants enumerated in 1940.

Usual place of residence.—According to usual Census practice, which dates back to 1790, each person enumerated in the 1950 Census was counted as an inhabitant of his usual place of residence or usual place of abode, which is generally construed to mean the place where he lives and sleeps most of the time. This place is not necessarily the same as his legal residence, voting residence, or domicile, although, in the vast majority of cases, these different bases of classification would be identical.

In the application of this rule, persons were not always counted as residents of the places in which they happened to be found by the census enumerators. Persons in places where guests usually pay for quarters (hotels, etc.) were enumerated on the night of April 11, and those whose usual place of residence was elsewhere were allocated to their homes. Visitors found staying in private homes, however, were not ordinarily interviewed there. Information on persons away from their usual place of residence was obtained from other members of their families, landladies, etc. If an entire family was expected to be away during the whole period of the enumeration, information on it was obtained from neighbors. A matching process was used to eliminate duplicate reports for persons who reported for themselves while away and were also reported by their families at home.

Persons in the armed forces quartered on military installations were enumerated as residents of the States, counties, and minor civil divisions in which their installations were located. Members of their families were enumerated where they actually resided. In the 1950 Census, college students living away from home were considered residents of the communities in which they were residing while attending college, rather than as persons temporarily absent from their parental homes as was the practice in 1940. In 1950 the crews of vessels of the American Merchant Marine in harbors of the United States were counted as part of the population of the ports in which their vessels were berthed on April 1, 1950. In 1940 such persons were treated as part of the population of the port from which the vessel operated. Inmates of institutions, who ordinarily live there for long periods of time, were counted as inhabitants of the place in which the institution was located; whereas patients in general hospitals, who ordinarily have short stays, were counted at, or allocated to, their homes. All persons without a usual place of residence were counted where they were enumerated.

Urban and rural population.—The 1950 urban population of Kansas numbered 993,220 persons, or 52.1 percent of the population of the State (table 1). The urban population was living in the 69 urban places in the State and in other territory included in the urban fringes of the 4 urbanized areas wholly or partially within the State. Nearly one-half of the urban population was living in these four urbanized areas (table 2).

The rural population of Kansas comprised 912,079 persons, or 47.9 percent of the population of the State (table 1). Of the rural population, 129,310, or 14.2 percent, were living in the 77 incorporated and 1 unincorporated place of 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants (table 2).

Urban definition.—Under the urban definition established for use in the 1950 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns,¹ and villages; (b) the densely settled urban fringe, including both incorporated and unincorporated areas, around cities of 50,000 or more; and (c) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more outside any urban fringe. The remaining population is classified as rural. According to the urban definition used in previous censuses, the urban population comprised all persons living in incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more and areas (usually minor civil divisions) classified as urban under special rules relating to population size and density.

In both definitions, the most important component of the urban territory is the group of incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more. A definition of urban territory restricted to such places, however, would exclude a number of equally large and densely settled places, merely because they were not incorporated places. Under the old definition, an effort was made to avoid some of the more obvious omissions by the inclusion of the places urban under special rules. Even with these rules, however, many large and closely built-up places were excluded from the urban territory. To improve the situation in the 1950 Census, the Bureau of the Census set up, in advance of enumeration, boundaries for urban-fringe areas around cities of 50,000 or more and for unincorporated places outside urban fringes. All the population residing in urban-fringe areas and in unincorporated places of 2,500 or more is classified as urban according to the 1950 definition. (Of course, the incorporated places of 2,500 or more are urban in their own right.) Consequently, the special rules of the old definition are no longer necessary.

According to the 1950 urban definition, the urban population of Kansas included (1) the 903,468 inhabitants of the 63 incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more, (2) the 3,834 inhabitants of Sunflower, the only unincorporated place of 2,500 inhabitants or more, and (3) the 85,918 inhabitants of the 9 incorporated places with fewer than 2,500 inhabitants and of unincorporated territory included in the urban fringes of Topeka and Wichita and those parts of the urban fringes of Kansas City, Mo., and St. Joseph, Mo., which are in Kansas. Since there were no places urban under special rule according to the old definition, the first element comprised the urban population under the old definition. The population of the remaining elements—89,752—represents the gain in the urban population which resulted from the change in definition.

Although the Bureau of the Census has employed other definitions in the course of its history, the statistics on the population by urban and rural residence for the years 1860 to 1940 are shown in accordance with the 1940 definition. The 1950 statistics are shown in accordance with both the new and old definitions.

Trends of urban and rural residence.—Trends in the urban and rural population can be examined only on the basis of the old definition. On this basis, there was a consistent rise in the urban population from 329,696 in 1900 to 903,468 in 1950. The largest numerical gain and rate of growth over the 50-year period both came in the decade 1900 to 1910. The gain between 1940 and 1950 was 149,527, or 19.8 percent. The proportion of the population of the State living in urban territory more than doubled between 1900 and 1950, rising from 22.4 to 47.4 percent.

In contrast to the steady increase in the urban population, the rural population declined in all but one decade of the twentieth century, dropping from 1,140,799 in 1900 to 1,001,831 in 1950. The 1950 total was 45,256, or 4.3 percent, below the 1940 level. The decline was not as sharp as in the previous decade when the loss was 104,078, or 9.0 percent. As a result of the divergent trends in the urban and rural population, the proportion of the population classified as rural fell from 77.6 percent in 1900 to 52.6 percent in 1950.

Counties.—The 105 counties in Kansas ranged in size from Greeley with a population of 2,010 to Sedgwick with a population of 222,290. Between 1940 and 1950, 36 of the counties gained population. Eleven of the 36 counties which increased in population were included in the 16 which showed gains between 1930 and 1940. The most rapid rate of growth between 1940 and 1950 was recorded in Grant County, whereas the largest numerical increase took place in Sedgwick, which also had had the largest numerical increase in the previous decade (table 5).

Minor civil divisions.—To the primary political divisions into which counties are subdivided, the Bureau of the Census applies the general term "minor civil divisions." The minor civil divisions in Kansas are the townships and some of the cities. Other cities form part of one or more townships.

Table 6 shows statistics on the population of each county by minor civil divisions for the last three censuses. The population of each city or unincorporated place forming part of a minor civil division is shown in italics under the population of the minor civil division in which it is located. When a city lies in two or more minor civil divisions, the population of the several parts is shown in table 6 in the appropriate counties and minor civil divisions, and each part is designated by "part." Figures in the total population of such places are given in table 7. Unincorporated places are designated by "uninc." Changes between the 1940 Census and the 1950 Census in the boundaries of the areas listed are shown in notes to table 6. For changes in boundaries prior to the 1940 Census, see reports of the Sixteenth Census (1940), Population, Vol. I, pp. 397-405, and reports of earlier censuses.

Incorporated and unincorporated places.—Kansas had 601 places incorporated as cities and 2 unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more. Of the 1,206,252 persons living in the cities, 302,784 were in the 533 cities with fewer than 2,500 inhabitants. The unincorporated places were Sunflower and Holmdel Gardens-Cloverdale, which had 3,834 and 1,248 inhabitants, respectively.

Political units recognized as incorporated places in the 1950 Census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

The Bureau of the Census has delineated boundaries for the thickly settled urban fringe around cities of 50,000 or more and has also delineated boundaries for unincorporated places of 1,000 or more which are densely settled population centers without corporate limits. Although there are unincorporated places within the urban fringe, it was not feasible to establish boundaries for such places and therefore they are not identified as separate places.

The count of urban places in the 1950 Census includes all incorporated places of 2,500 or more regardless of location and unincorporated places of 2,500 or more which are located outside the urban-fringe areas. Incorporated places of less than 2,500 which lie in the urban fringe are not recognized as urban places.

Urbanized areas.—There were two urbanized areas entirely in Kansas and two others partly within the State. There were 283,151 persons living in the first two areas—the Topeka and Wichita Urbanized Areas—and 179,390 in the Kansas parts of the two other areas—the Kansas City, Mo., and St. Joseph, Mo., Urbanized Areas. Of the 462,541 persons in the State in urbanized areas, 247,070 were living in the two central cities located in the State—Topeka and Wichita—and 215,471 were in the urban fringes of the four areas. The population of the urban fringes included 138,601 persons in the 10 incorporated places and 76,870 in unincorporated parts (tables 2 and 9).

Each urbanized area contains at least one city with 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1940 or according to a special census taken since 1940, and some urbanized areas contain two or more cities of 50,000. Each urbanized area also includes the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that meet the criteria listed in the section below on "Urban fringe." Thus, the territory of an urbanized area may be classified into incorporated parts and unincorporated parts. (See urbanized area maps.)

An urbanized area may also be divided into central city or cities and urban fringe as defined below.

Central cities.—Although an urbanized area may contain more than one city of 50,000 or more, not all cities of this size are necessarily central cities. The largest city of an area is always a central city. In addition, the second and third most populous cities in the area may qualify as central cities provided they have a population of at least one-third of that of the largest city in the area and a minimum of 25,000 inhabitants. The names of the individual urbanized areas indicate the central cities of the areas.

Urban fringe.—The urban fringe includes that part of the urbanized area which is outside the central city or cities. The following types of areas are embraced if they are contiguous to the central city or cities or if they are contiguous to any area already included in the urban fringe.

1. Incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more in 1940 or at a subsequent special census conducted prior to 1950.
2. Incorporated places with fewer than 2,500 inhabitants containing an area with a concentration of 100 dwelling units or more with a density in this concentration of 500 units or more per square mile. This density represents approximately 2,000 persons per square mile and normally is the minimum found associated with a closely spaced street pattern.
3. Unincorporated territory with at least 500 dwelling units per square mile.
4. Territory devoted to commercial, industrial, transportation, recreational, and other purposes functionally related to the central city.

Also included are outlying noncontiguous areas with the required dwelling unit density located within $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles of the main contiguous urbanized part, measured along the shortest connecting highway, and other outlying areas within one-half mile of such noncontiguous areas which meet the minimum residential density rule.
